“Advocates for community health and medical education”

“Philanthropy for health is what it’s all about,” says Dr. Rolando Rivera, board chair of the recently launched Foundation of Collier County Medical Society, Inc. “We’re harnessing the power of skilled medical providers and partners to promote community health programs, health education and outreach, and help groom future local medical professionals. Each and every day our 500+ CCMS doctors take an active role in the health of the local community. Now our members, community partners and supporters can align their professional and philanthropic commitment to health and maximize the impact to the community.”

The Collier County Medical Society launched the 501(c)(3) charitable foundation with a mission to “provide support and leadership to programs that address access to healthcare, promote health education and serve the community’s public health needs.” As advocates for this mission, the Foundation board of directors is focused on success in five key areas:

1. Team with local academic institutions to grow their medical and health care programs and provide need-based scholarships for our future medical doctors and specialists
2. Fund local clinics who provide vital medical services to uninsured low income adults
3. Promote and launch healthy living programs addressing obesity, diabetes and heart disease
4. Provide leadership, advocacy and support for key community health education programs
5. Ensure professional oversight and responsible stewardship of donor contributions.
