

“Philanthropy for health is what it’s all about,” says Dr. Rolando Rivera, board chair of the Foundation of CCMS.

“We’re harnessing the power of medical providers and partners to promote community health programs, health education and outreach, and help groom future local medical professionals. Every day our 600 CCMS doctors take an active role in the health of the local community. Now our members, community partners, and supporters can align their professional and philanthropic commitment to health and maximize the impact to the community.”

Collier County Medical Society launched the 501c3 charitable foundation in 2013. The Foundation’s mission is:

“provide support and leadership to programs that address access to healthcare and promote health education.”

As advocates for this mission, the Foundation board of directors is focused on success in four key areas:

1. Team with local academic institutions to grow their medical and health care programs and provide need-based scholarships for our future medical professionals
2. Fund local programs that provide vital medical services to the underserved
3. Provide leadership, advocacy and support for key community health education programs
4. Ensure professional oversight and responsible stewardship of donor contributions
